Teachers can now design CTS programs to meet the needs of their students, schools and communities by choosing from over 1,000 CTS courses in five clusters and twenty eight occupational areas. Additionally, CTS Project and Practicum courses provide opportunities for teachers and students to personalize their programs and access highly specialized learning opportunities. This session will provide an overview of the CTS Project and Practicum courses, parameters for use, assessment requirements, record-keeping course templates, sample pathways and time for discussion.

This full day workshop includes a morning presentation on CTS Project and Practicum courses followed by a guided working session in the afternoon to create CTS Project and Practicum courses for individual school programs.
