Learning Opportunity

Welcome to the "Read & Write S'more" AB Literacy Institute, where educators from kindergarten to 12th grade come together to ignite a passion for reading and writing in their classrooms. Our institute is dedicated to equipping teachers with innovative strategies and resources to inspire literacy proficiency while integrating AI technology seamlessly into their curriculum.

Through a variety of sessions, teachers will explore all areas of the curriculum, hone their instructional techniques, and be introduced to how AI can support their work in the language arts classroom. From planning a weekly schedule that considers all of the organizing ideas, to selecting diverse texts for instruction, our institute empowers educators to grow a culture of literacy for all of the students they serve.

Join us in the journey to transform classrooms into vibrant hubs of literary exploration, where every teacher becomes a catalyst for unlocking the full potential of their students' reading and writing abilities.

The Song That Called Them Home

Charlie Kraig

Charlie is an educational consultant for Learning Network Educational Services. Experience as a classroom teacher (Gr 1-12), school-based coordinator (LA/SS and Inclusive Education), and vice principal (K-8 school), helps her craft unique professional learning opportunities for educators. Important in the work we do as designers of professional learning is using the same teaching strategies and tools that teachers can use in their classrooms while honoring them as competent adult learners. Charlie is a Learning Transfer Endorsed Educator as well as the Regional Network Chair of @WomenEdAlberta (part of the global #WomenEd network supporting and encouraging women in formal and informal leadership positions). She is passionate about instructional leadership and improving teacher practice for all learners' benefit. Charlie is returning to the school and classroom for 2024-25 as a Vice-Principal in Red Deer. Charlie is also the co-host of the ARPDC Podcast: Change Maker Conversations in Education.

Lana Lane

An Early Years Elementary School teacher by trade, Lana's career began in Grade 1. Since that time, she has been a teacher of Pre-K to Grade 2, a tutor, and K-12 literacy support teacher. As a trained RRST (Reading Readiness Screening Tool) facilitator and Early Interventionist, the how of acquiring reading has been key in Lana's professional development throughout her teaching career. Consulting independently, working as a learning facilitator for the Learning Network and reading a plethora of books fills many of her days. In her spare time, she enjoys her role as a Family Youth Worker, and tending to her acreage north of Lloydminster. She's a proud mom to an engineer, nurse and aspiring teacher!

Tannis Niziol

Various Presenters

Kim Tackaberry

Designer of Professional Learning for Calgary Regional Consortium

Irene Heffel

Kelly Gibbs

Kelly has spent her educational career supporting students with a variety of needs and supporting staff building instructional strategies. She wanted to know more about how students learn and why they had difficulty learning...so back to school she went! As a teacher and a Reading Specialist, Kelly holds a Masters degree from the University of Alberta in the area of language and literacy development and specialized assessment. She built her knowledge of UDL through her work at the University of Manitoba. Her work as a Consultant supported teachers in building inclusive practice in all divisions. She has in-depth experience doing professional development, with a focus on instructional strategies and implementation of such strategies. She has taught pre-service teachers at the University of Alberta for the past year. Kelly's joy has been found in supporting staff in the use of research-based strategies that make teaching and learning intentional and meaningful.

Matthew Johnson

Now in the middle of his career as an English Teacher Matthew Johnson is a researchers, blogger, writer and teacher dedicated to supporting students and teachers in their learning. Matthew asked himself, "Can writing teachers carry their heavy load of papers without sacrificing nights and weekends? Are there ways to improve student writing faster that don't put more on a teacher's plate? How can we be more equitable and responsive to increase the impact of our writing instruction? And is there a way to find balance and better outcomes simultaneously?

He continues to ask those questions and has shared some of the answers along the way with his blog, and in his books. The author of Flash Feedback and Answers to Your Biggest Questions About Teaching Middle and High School ELA Matthew is all about helping teachers thrive in a challenging environment that particularly asks a lot of English teachers.
