Program

Join accredited music therapist and elementary music educator Sherryl Sewepagaham, in an interactive and participatory workshop that focuses on First Nations songs and traditional teachings in songs and games. Sherryl uses the hand drum in her work with students and now uses the drum in her music therapy work in spiritual healing. This workshop will focus on learning drum, rattle and stick songs in the oral tradition-style and the importance of First Nations content into the classroom. Some traditional-based games will also be incorporated into the workshop.

Presenters

Sherryl Sewepagaham

Sherryl Swewpagaham is of Cree-Dene ancestry and is from the Little Red River Cree Nation in Northern Alberta. Sherryl is a composer, music therapist, educator, curriculum writer and national presenter. She holds a Bachelor of Education degree from the University of Alberta, a Level III Orff certification, and has worked as an elementary music teacher and teacher-consultant in Edmonton, AB for 14 years. Sherryl is a 20-year founding member of the 2006 Juno-nominated trio Asani, and released her solo album, Splashing in the Water Loudly in 2014.

Sherryl brings her love of traditional drum songs to the students she works with and to the Indigenous education programs she creates. Sherryl completed a Bachelor of Music Therapy degree from Capilano University and will add the therapeutic side of music into her clinical practice while continuing to work on various education projects.
