About the Session:

When the lines between parenting and teaching become increasingly blurred, let's help parents

- Gain the literacy themselves to understand their child's online interactions on computers and iDevices and the impact of these interactions beyond the screen
- Learn how to best set up their child for success within whatever our "classroom" looks like
- Gain a basic understanding of the tools we're using to facilitate learning so they can help students when required
- Support their child's growth to becoming an aware and digitally fluent digital citizen

Join this hosted conversation to determine what has worked well in your District and how we can create more mindful strategies moving forward.
